ZIONCHECK 'SETTLES DOWN'

Climaxing a spectacular week in Washington, marked by frequent harum-scarum escapades and merry chases with police, Representative Marion A. Zioncheck, (Dem., Wash.) rushed to the altar with pretty Ruby Nix, 21, PWA typist of Texarkana, Tex., who promised to "reform" him. Here they are shown as they sped away from the minister's home in the congressman's car, honeymoon bound. Twice since then, the "playboy" congressman has been arrested for speeding and being impolite to policemen.

POLICE ILLNESS PLACES DAMPER ON GRAFT QUIZ

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—(UP)—Sudden illness among members of the San Francisco police force and their families today made doubtful resumption of a grand jury inquiry tonight into asserted police graft.

Mrs. Emma Hoertkorn, wife of Police Captain Thomas Hoertkorn, was reported too ill to appear before the jury. Captain Hoertkorn last week admitted to the jury that he was a man of some wealth but said his financial affairs were handled by his wife. His suggestion that she be summoned to answer questions was accepted promptly by the grand jury, but her illness so far has prevented her appearance.

Captain Fred Lemon, also summoned as a witness, had returned from Hot Springs where he received treatment for arthritis but was reported only slightly improved and still under a physician's care.

The one witness grand jurors felt fairly certain would appear was Sergeant Patrick Shannon, who told last week of the acquisition of a sizeable fortune from stock market investments and profits made on races track tips given him by a mysterious individual known only as "Monk."

Shannon told the amazed jurors of hiding $25,000 made at Tanforan race track in 1923 and 1924 under a woodpile in the basement of his home, dipping into the fund whenever he needed money for investment.

Shannon was suspended from the police force Saturday and the police commission promised to investigate his story.

Policeman James H. Coleman, who was said to have savings of $85,000, was reported away on a "fishing trip." His wife said she did not know where he was or how long he would be away.

Coleman was one of those "invited" to appear before the grand jury tonight.

NEW YORK, May 4.—(UP)—Greta Garbo, who used to say "I want to be alone," was back in seclusion again today after a precedent shattering 10 minute interview with members of the press.

Newspapermen accustomed only to a back view of the film star sprinting into the distance on capable-looking feet were astounded yesterday when she uttered a few words as the Gripsholm docked from Sweden.

Miss Garbo said she was glad to be back after a year away, that she had been ill but was now better, that "the world was full of romance" and that she had never given interviews because she felt "people ought to feel what I want to express."

GRAND JURY GETS WEIRD DEATH CASE

Mystery Woman Reported Implicated in Bizarre Rattlesnake Plot

BULLETIN
LOS ANGELES, May 4.—(UP)—The district attorney's office late today sought permission to exhumate the body of Mrs. Mary Busch James, victim of brutal snakebite-drowning death plot allegedly conceived by her husband and a pal.

LOS ANGELES, May 4.—(UP)—District Attorney Buron Fitts announced today after a conference with members of his staff that he will take the "Rattlesnake" death case of Mrs. Mary Busch James before the county grand jury on Wednesday and ask for murder indictments against Robert S. James, much-married barber, and Charles H. Hope, confessed participant in James' bizarre plot to destroy his bride.

The district attorney declared the crime to be so revolting that he expected little interference with his program of speedy justice with the death penalty as the ultimate goal. Fitts predicted that murder indictments will be voted in less than a half hour after the jury hears evidence against James and Hope. He then plans to take both men into court for arraignment. Trial will follow speedily, Fitts said.

Fitts' announcement came after he spent several hours in conference with Robert P. Stewart, his chief deputy, and Deputy District Attorney Eugene D. Williams, who is in charge of the prosecution.

Woman Implicated
A startling development came shortly after Fitts announced his plan to place the case before the grand jury on Wednesday.

Deputy Sheriff Virgil Gray, who with Deputy Willard Killon, has investigated many angles of the case, declared a woman was implicated with James and Hope.

Gray refused to name the mysterious woman, but said she would be questioned soon.

Meanwhile, James, from his cell in the county jail, defied Fitts. Despite his confession that he plotted the crime to be so revolting that he expected little interference with his program of speedy justice with the death penalty as the ultimate goal.

The church was attacked again today and set afire, the mob preventing firemen from approaching. They assailed departing worshippers and two priests, who were rescued by storm guards. One woman was injured.

Italy Waits Final Word Of Victory

Ethiopian Annihilation is Said to Be Only Matter of Hours

ROME, May 4.—(UP)—Premier Benito Mussolini intimated to the chamber of deputies today that the fall of Addis Ababa and final annihilation of the Ethiopian empire probably is only a matter of hours.

Cheered by the crowded and excited chamber, he disappointed the deputies by not announcing that the capital already had fallen, but said:

"I have ordered a general mobilization of the Italian people. To the Italian people I will make the announcement you are expecting and to the Italian people, as on October 2 (the day before the war started), I will speak."

Expect Announcement
Since the chamber adjourned until tomorrow at 10 a. m., etc., it was assumed the announcement probably would be made before then, and confirmed at the session.

The premier's announcement was extremely brief. He prefaced it with a significant reference to Egypt, praising the late King Fuad and the state of Italian-Egyptian relations.

Mussolini was preceded by Costanzo Ciano, president of the chamber, who also dwelt on the Egyptian question. Eulogizing King Fuad, Ciano said:

"Italy shares the sorrow of Egypt.... She recalls the king's career, his studies at the Italian institute and his knowledge of our language."

Praising Fuad's skillful guidance of the Egyptian nation, Ciano made an obvious reference to Britain's control of Egypt when he said:

"King Fuad understood the necessity of obtaining greater liberties for his people.... Egypt has lost a great king and Italy has lost a great friend."

Regarding the occupation of Addis Ababa, Ciano declared:

"The nation is now waiting for the entry and for the reward of victory to be obtained. No force and no coalition can steal this victory from us. This time Italy will not have only the image of victory."

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(UP)—Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood today was relieved of duty as commander of the Sixth Corps area, at his own request.

He was relieved of duty by a special order issued by the war department, following his request to be retired from active service. The special order said:

"Major General Johnson Hagood, U. S. Army, at his own request, is relieved from his present assignment and duty at Chicago, Ill., and for the convenience of the government will proceed to his home to await retirement. The travel directed is necessary in the military service."

Hagood said he would devote himself to writing as soon as his present work with a mail order house is finished.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The supreme court today made certain a new record for consideration of New Deal test cases by failing to hand down its decision in the Guffey Coal act test.

Failure to decide the Guffey case today means that the decision cannot be presented before May 15 as the court takes a two weeks recess after today.

QUIZZED IN WENDEL CASE

For days surrounded with utmost secrecy, the "mystery woman" of the Wendel inquiry was revealed to be Mrs. Janet Bleefeld, wife of Murray Bleefeld, one of the men indicted in the kidnapping of Paul H. Wendel, former New Jersey attorney who was forced to confess the Lindbergh baby abduction. She is pictured below waiting to be questioned by District Attorney William F. X. Geoghan of Brooklyn, who announced that she was in no way personally implicated in the case. Her testimony led to the arrest of Sol Marcus, Trenton, N. J., bookmaker, in connection with the case.

COMMUNISTS TO 700,000 NEEDY

GAIN POWER IN AGED WILL GET PARIS CABINET $32,000,000 AID

PARIS, May 4.—(UP)—A tremendous left-wing popular front victory in the parliamentary run-off election, featured by sweeping Communist gains, presaging the downfall of the Sarraut cabinet today.

The dominating majority of the French parliament for the next four years will be in the hands of the Communists, Socialists and radical Socialists. These parties, combined as the popular front, will dictate an all-left government which probably will take power as soon as parliament is convened on June 1, if not sooner.

A new triumvirate of power has been set up as a result of Sunday's balloting. The three men who will dictate French policies for the next three years will be the Communist, Maurice Thorez; the Socialist, Leon Blum and the radical Socialist, Edouard Daladier.

Leaders of the popular front said that combination would work for a program involving reform of the Bank of France, nationalization of the munitions industry to take the profits out of war, and government ownership and operation of insurance companies, railroads, power companies and public utilities.

In addition to the political subdivisions cooperating for the three months ending June 30, the Social Security board is considering these states for federal grants:

Old age pensions: California, Florida, Illinois, Montana, Colorado, New Jersey and Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(UP)—The senate today passed the Wheeler bill clarifying and defining the powers of the federal trade commission to act in the public interest to prevent unfair methods of competition.

REVISION CONSIDERED
LONDON, May 4.—(UP)—The question of revising the league covenant, in the light of its failure to halt Italy's conquest of Ethiopia, will be given "the most careful consideration," the League of Nations was informed today by the British government.

EXTRA DIVIDEND DECLARED
NEW YORK, May 4.—(UP)—General Motors corporation today declared an extra dividend of 75 cents per share in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents. In the preceding quarter the corporation paid a 50-cent regular and a 50-cent special dividend.

SALT LAKE CITY, May 4.—(UP)—Four officers who traced him across three states and into Mexico were enroute back to Salt Lake City today with Ben Pack Jr., 21, in custody as the accused attack-slayer of attractive Ruth Shaw, 20-year-old unemployed

Electors To Get Pick Of Five Slates

Only Third of Electors Expected at Polls Tomorrow

DESPITE factional strife in both major parties over the choice of national convention delegates, political observers today looked for a comparatively light vote in tomorrow's preferential primary.

Possibly not more than a third of Orange county's 60,000 registered voters will visit the polls tomorrow, it was predicted by one source usually accurate in such prophecies.

Lack of the "personal" element in the election was, of course, the basis of expectations for a small vote. Individual candidacies in an election, it was pointed out, usually provide the spur to a heavy vote. Sometimes it is some burning issue, such as a flood bond proposal. In tomorrow's election both incentives are lacking.

Group Competition
The contest is confined entirely to group competition, and the campaigning has been done by long range, with practically no personal work among the voters.

The Republicans will choose between two slates of convention delegates, one pledged to Governor Alfred Landon, of Kansas, and the other, the so-called unpledged slate, nominally pledged to Earl Warren, chairman of the Republican state central committee.

Backers of the unpledged slate claim that Warren's name was inserted on the ballot merely to comply with a California primary law, and that the delegates on that slate are not actually pledged to him, but will be free to support whom they choose in the convention. During the campaign they have charged that the Landon slate is controlled by Governor Merriam and W. R. Hearst, both of whom are supporting it.

The Landon group, in reply, points out that the Warren delegates will be under control of the Warren managers, to be swung wherever the Warren managers may decide, and that the delegates will not be expressing any choice of their own by voting for the Warren "unpledged" group.

Curious Situations
The split between the groups had wrought some curious local situations. It finds two of Orange county's most prominent Republican leaders, State Senator N. T. Edwards, of Orange,

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(UP)—The federal government, 31 states and the District of Columbia will spend $32,000,000 extending aid to almost 700,000 needy, blind and dependent children during the next three months, the Social Security board announced today.

The money will be divided $25,325,258 for 225,694 old-age pensioners, $1,413,765 for 18,750 sightless and $4,960,977 for 142,578 young in need of aid.

The New Deal will put up $11,656,175 of the $32,000,000 spent under terms of the Social Security act, federal funds are granted to states whose public-assistance plans conform with the federal statute.

In addition to the political subdivisions cooperating for the three months ending June 30, the Social Security board is considering these states for federal grants:

Old age pensions: California, Florida, Illinois, Montana, Colorado, New Jersey and Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(UP)—The Sun Maid Raisin Growers of California today were denied a supreme court review of a ruling of the ninth district circuit court of appeals restraining its use of the trademark "Sun-Maid" strictly to raisins and raisin products.

The supreme court's action, which in effect affirmed the lower court ruling, was taken in a suit originally instituted by the California Packing company.

The Packing company claimed use of the word "Sun-Maid" on food products other than raisins infringed on its copyrighted trademark "Sun-kist," on canned and packaged products.

The trademark "Sun-kist" in the field of citrus fruits is held by the California Fruit Growers' association.

Arrival of Triumphant Italians Awaited to Restore Order

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, May 4.—(UP)—British reinforcements were reported rushed today to the aid of the American legation at Addis Ababa which was under the direct rifle fire of marauding Ethiopians.

(By United Press)
PILLAGING natives, inflamed by impending Italian occupation of Addis Ababa, attacked the American and other foreign legations today. Many white persons were killed or wounded as they stood off the crazed natives.

A stalwart little band of Americans in the United States legation compound fought off one attack by looting Ethiopians, but was so hard pressed that an appeal had to be made to the British for a machine gun and soldiers.

Two native women in the American quarters were wounded. Previously Mrs. A. R. Stadin, wife of an American missionary doctor, had been killed by a stray bullet.

Selassie in Flight
All regular communications had failed long ago as Emperor Haile Selassie fled from his capital for Jerusalem and the natives pillaged and burned much of the city. The story of bloodshed, rioting and chaos in the capital was pieced together from terse dispatches sent over the United States, British and French diplomatic wireless stations, including the counts of Ben Ames and James L. Rohrbaugh of the United Press, only American correspondents in Addis Ababa. The other American news services were represented by foreigners.

Restoration of order awaited arrival of the triumphant Italians. Native contingents already were encamped on the outskirts of the city. They waited there for the main column, headed by Marshal Pietro Badoglio himself. Latest announcements in Rome said this force was 21 miles away.

Pillage of the handful of Americans barricaded in the legation compound was told graphically in messages to Washington from Minister Cornelius Van H. Enckert. Ethiopian bandits attacked at 9 a. m. All the white women except Mrs. Engert had been taken to the fortified British compound previously. She was in the garden when the natives opened fire. Some of the men had gone to aid a hospital. Ames and Rohrbaugh were out to get first-hand news of the Italians.

Beat Off Bandits
With revolvers, rifles, shotguns, swords and spears, the few remaining Americans beat off the

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

— News Behind the News —

BY PAUL MALLON

(Copyright, 1936, by Paul Mallon)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Gold stocks have been holding up well during the market decline. The tip is supposed to be at least lukewarm in Wall Street that the president is going to hike the gold price again and squeeze his last nickel out of the dollar.

No indication of anything like that has been noticeable here. A lot of things have happened since President Roosevelt set out to increase the price level that way and said: "Do it or we will." He seems to be going now along the opposite line of price stabilization rather than increase.

Furthermore, from a technical standpoint, it would not make sense for Mr. Roosevelt to give his nine-cent reward in the dollar now in view of the French situation. The proper time for further dollar readjustment would be after the French have devalued.

Lastly, there is no public pressure for it.

FRANC

The best viewpoint here still is that the French will go off gold rather than devalue, despite the fact that has been heard lately to the contrary.

When and if that happens, the effects probably will be: (a) immediate fall in the franc, which may be prolonged if unaccompanied by control over the flight of capital via the securities markets. The world will wait. (b) As the franc stabilizes, French withdrawal of capital from abroad will start. Withdrawals from the U. S. market will have only a temporary effect. (c) French exports will increase (to U. S. wines, furs, perfumes, etc.) and imports decline (from U. S. apples). (d) French prices will tend to rise slowly, thus gradually reducing the price stimulation to French exports.

Conclusion: the effects will not be immediately important.

Note—There is reason to believe the French will await an international monetary conference before stabilizing the franc.

LEGISLATION

Congressional forecast: Congress will not permit the Frazier-Lundin bill to get as far as the White House. Democrats do not want to make Mr. Roosevelt veto it in view of the campaign. It will probably be killed in the house, if not the senate.

Details of the final form of the tax bill are not yet evident, but there is every reason to expect that the senate will modify the corporate tax schedule passed by the house. The Wheeler-Crosser railroad economy bill will not pass, but the job of Rail Coordinator Eastman will be continued another year. A chain store bill will pass, but the final form will probably be slightly less sharp than even the existing modified Robinson-Patman bill, passed recently by the senate. The house may pass the Borah-Van Nuys bill, but at any rate the final bill will be written in conference between the two houses.

WASHINGTON

By Ray Tucker

WPA's beneficiaries have developed a lobby technique which strikes some members of congress as slicker than the public utilities' high-pressure sales tricks. Capitol Hill mailbags have been laden with thousands of neatly and inexpensively mimeographed letters protesting against layoffs and the failure to spend all the $4,000,000,000 before June 30. (President Roosevelt hopes to withhold about one billion as velvet for the 1937 fiscal period.) Besides stressing human need, the communications eulogize the economic effect of government spending on industry, agriculture and tradesmen.

In fact, internal evidence suggests that the backfire was inspired by certain commercial interests which dread a loss of customers from curtailment of WPA rolls. The letter-writers demand more rather than less relief. Now they headline the need for including a prevailing wage clause in the measure under congressional consideration.

RECESSIONAL

Washington's watchdogs of Wall Street have begun to bark a different tune since prices slipped. Though outwardly nonchalant, they can't conceal secret worries lest a sharp decline discredit 1933 assurances that federal regulation would guarantee a well-behaved market.

When stocks soared dizzily a few months ago—faster even than in 1929—SEC-ers insisted that earnings and prospects justified the baby boom. They produced charts to confute critics who warned that the bulls were getting out of bounds. Federal reserves washed their hands of the problem—and still do—by remarking that cash and not bank credit was supporting the upward movement.

But now the inside word is that prices were out of line all the time. The sag is blamed on everything from the French elections to the tax bill and FDR's recent speeches. The politicians discern several silver linings, however. It may reflect confidence that inflation psychology has disappeared. It won't hurt the administration so severely now as it would in the late days of the campaign—if there is to be a sunny contrast.

BURGLARS ARE ACTIVE IN S. A. DURING NIGHT

Burglarizing of the Goodyear Service store at 200 South Main, and several petty thefts, including one in which someone stole approximately 50 goldfish from the pond in the rear of Dr. Roy Horton's place, 113 1/2 North Main, were being investigated today by city police, according to reports on file.

Harold Hamel of the Goodyear service said a thief either used a key or hid inside the building to steal fish from the office some time Saturday night. Several pennies and nickels were left undisturbed.

Thieves entered the Dr. Horton back yard last night, it was believed, removed jars, stones and brick from the fish pond and made off with all of the goldfish valued at approximately $4. Mrs. Charlotte Nissou, 2500 North Main, told officers thieves, Saturday night, entered the Nissou place and stole two Rhode Island Red mother hens and 25 baby chicks, valued at $10.

While Mrs. R. L. Carry, 626 Orange avenue, was away yesterday afternoon, someone removed the screen from a rear window, crawled through the window and ransacked the place, leaving by the rear door. She was checking possible loss today.

Yes... Red Lion does give greater mileage to any car. This was sensationally proved again in the famous Gilmore Yosemite Run from Los Angeles to Yosemite National Park when thirty different 1936 model cars used Red Lion... and achieved mileages ranging from 17.69 to 33.21—or a composite average of 22.47 miles per gallon. True, these cars were in tip-top condition for this gruelling 352 mile test... most of them were operated by good drivers (no trick driving or coasting was permitted by American Automobile Association officials) ... but you, too, will get proportionately higher mileage if you use the Record Breaker gasoline—Red Lion. Try it!

The 30 cars all used

of only one pint of this

SHE SUFFERED AGONY WITH INDIGESTION; THEN GLY-CAS AMAZES

All Else Had Failed Repeatedly in Santa Ana Lady's Stubborn Case; Nerves Quiet, Too; Poisons Driven from Her System—Now Like New Again.

"Too much praise cannot be given a medicine with the merit of Gly-Cas for it is not an ordinary medicine," said Mrs. G. C. Flack, 1817 North Main Street, Santa Ana, a highly respected lady of this vicinity who has lived here for the past ten years, recently in talking with the Gly-Cas Man, who is daily meeting the local public at the McCoy Drug Co., 108 West Fourth Street, this city.

"I suffered terrible agony with indigestion before I knew of Gly-Cas," continued Mrs. Flack. "Gas formed in my stomach in abundance after every meal I ate to such an extent that my heart was rapidly being affected. I could not rest at night; many times I would sit up in bed to get my breath. Pains were continually shooting through my chest, was terribly nervous and finally my appetite failed me completely. What I did force myself to eat would not agree with me. I tried many different kinds of medicines, actually did my best to get relief but grew worse each day instead. When I finally began this new Gly-Cas I was almost without hope of ever getting well again—but within a WEEK I found to my great pleasure that Gly-Cas was DIFFERENT from the ordinary medicines of today—it gave me RESULTS."

"Gly-Cas seemed to go directly to the cause of my years of poor health and suffering and take it entirely out of my system," continued Mrs. Flack. "Then, too, Gly-Cas did its work in a most natural manner. Those attacks of indigestion and gas have gone entirely and no longer trouble me in the least. My appetite is now fine, eat anything I wish without any ill effects afterwards, rest well at night and feel fine in every way. No wonder so many people are praising Gly-Cas so highly—it deserves it all and more too. Gly-Cas is the first medicine I have ever found that did not disappoint me with its results."

The Gly-Cas Man is daily meeting crowds of local people at the McCoy Drug Co., 108 West Fourth Street, Santa Ana, where he is introducing and explaining the action of this new herbal remedy. Gly-Cas, $1 box; 6 boxes, $5, by mail, plus 3c box tax. Cash must accompany order.

MORE THAN 900 DELEGATES ATTEND ANNUAL GUILD RALLY

The Fifteenth Annual World Wide Guild Rally concluded here Sunday with an impressive international communion service. More than 900 were present. Three pastors assisted the Rev. Harry Owings in the serving, Dr. Wm. Ashmore, retired missionary from China, Rev. Jose Zamora of Manizillo Mission and Rev. W. C. Carter, missionary to Negroes. Twelve girls of other nationalities served the communion, assisted by local girls in the galleries.

There were 661 paid registrations to the rally, exclusive of speakers and visitors for occasional sessions. Housing was provided for 470 on Friday night and 560 on Saturday night.

Mrs. Dwight Mitchell of Los Angeles, associate state secretary, was presiding officer Sunday, and Mildred MacFarlane of Whittier was song leader, and Octavia Payne of Imperial, pianist.

Missionaries introduced were: Dr. William Ashmore, Dr. Harry Openshaw, both from China, Miss Gaye Harris, Americanization missionary; Miss Louise Carter, Christian Center, Los Angeles; Miss Julia Shaff, missionary to the Japanese, Mrs. W. J. Richardson of Burma; Mrs. Alice Linsley from South India; Miss Dorcas Whittaker of South India and Rev. Harry Grober, missionary to the Indians.

One of the high lights of the day was the honoring of Miss Dorcas Whittaker of this city with a gold pin in recognition of her long years of missionary service in South India. The award was made by Miss Janet McKay of New York, secretary of the Woman's American Baptist Mission society. Miss McKay gave the principle address of the day, on "Stone Walls and Paper Houses," impression of her recent trip to China and Japan.

More than 700 girls and leaders attended the banquet Saturday night, with an overflow meeting at the Rossmore cafeteria after the First Methodist church was filled. The Naome Fletcher Chapter of this city made and presented 15 corsages to the missionaries and state officers attending the banquet. The favors were tiny pots of cactus, suggestive of the general theme of the century plant. A beautiful large century plant decorated the platform for all sessions, and a century plant in bloom, was the motif decorating the programs.

Awards were made Saturday evening, with mileage award going to the Taft delegation, 41 girls making the round trip of 324 miles. A Montgomery translation Testament was the prize. The prize for the best peace poster went to Loyalty chapter, Immanuel Baptist church, Long Beach. ## Christian Science

"Everlasting Punishment" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text was from Isaiah: "There is no peace, saith the Lord, unto the wicked." The Bible selections in the Lesson Sermon included these verses from the Proverbs: "The righteousness of the perfect shall direct his way; but the wicked shall fall by his own wickedness. . . . He that diligently seeketh good procureth favour but he that seeketh mischief, it shall come unto him. . . . The wicked are overthrown, and are not; but the house of the righteous shall stand." One of the correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "Christian Science commands man to master the propensities,—to hold hatred in abeyance with kindness, to conquer lust with chastity, revenge with charity, and to overcome deceit with honesty. Choke these errors in their early stages, if you would not cherish an army of conspirators against health, happiness and success."

Awards were made Saturday evening, with mileage award going to the Taft delegation, 41 girls making the round trip of 324 miles. A Montgomery translation Testament was the prize. The prize for the best peace poster went to Loyalty chapter, Immanuel Baptist church, Long Beach. ## LANDON DRIVE CARRIED ON TO VITAL STATES

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(UP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon's drive toward the Republican presidential nomination carries him tomorrow to vital primaries in California and South Dakota. Reverses in those states would hurt Landon although they might not stop him.

Maryland commands immediate interest of Democratic politicians with today's presidential primary. Col. Henry C. Breckinridge of New York is entered against President Roosevelt. Maryland's delegation to the Republican national convention probably will be pledged to the "favorite son" candidacy of Governor Harry Nice.

With votes to deliver on the convention floor, Nice might be able to make a deal for the vice presidential nomination. The GOP will put an asterisk on the tail of the ticket this year. Top position is assured for the west with Landon the favorite as of today. Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, R., Mich., is rated a strong dark horse contender. Frank Knox, of Illinois, Sen. Frederick Steiwer, of Oregon, and Sen. William E. Borah are in the field.

A Landon slate of delegates supported by Gov. Frank F. Merriam and William Randolph Hearst is opposed in California by an unopposed slate allied with Mr. Hoover. The so-called Hoover ticket does not project the former president as a candidate for the Republican nomination. But he is anxious to exert his party leadership at the Cleveland convention both in selection of a nominee and drafting a platform.

Mr. Hoover has denied he is opposing the Landon movement but the more canny political observers are convinced the influence of Republicans still loyal to the former president will be exerted against Landon at Cleveland.

In South Dakota an unopposed delegation favorable to Landon is opposed to a slate pledged formally to Borah. The South Dakota vote will test the comparative farm belt popularity of the veteran progressive senator and the young man who emerged from political obscurity slightly more than a year ago.

In Massachusetts last week a write-in movement gave Landon a 10 to 1 margin over Mr. Hoover who was the Bay state second choice.

Hoover must demonstrate his hold on California Tuesday if he is to be close enough to party councils in Cleveland to make himself heard when the time comes to pick a man and platform.

Landon probably could survive reverses in South Dakota and California. But if delegates sympathetic to him are named in both states his sweepstakes will be enforced with unmistakable emphasis.

COUNTY CAN HAVE TWO GOP DELEGATES

Orange county can have two delegates at the National Republican convention, according to Superior Judge James L. Allen in a statement today.

Judge Allen explained this plan by saying that voters who plan to vote for the Warren delegation can mark each individual name on their ballot, including R. Y. Williams, eliminating another candidate and voting for Senator Nelson T. Edwards, a candidate on the Landon ticket.

He pointed out that it would require but a few additional votes to secure a double representation from this county.

The same plan could be worked in connection with the Landon instructed delegation, by voting for Edwards on that ticket, eliminating another candidate and voting for Williams of the Warren delegation.

LOS ANGELES, May 2.—(UP)—Gov. Frank P. Merriam is still hopeful that California can solve its relief problems without the necessity of calling a special session of the legislature.

STRIKE AT DEM STATE PARLEY ROCKS ARIZONA

TUCSON, Ariz., May 4.—(UP)—Arizona still rocked today with repercussions of its state Democratic convention, a gathering that was marked with one fist fight, much argument and a police detail to keep order.

Status of the convention's accomplishments—and one faction insisted the convention accomplished nothing—remained in doubt.

The forces of R. G. Langmade of Phoenix, candidate for national committee and potent force in the R. C. Stanford gubernatorial machine, declared the convention legally did these things:

1. Elected Langmade national committeeman and Mrs. Eleanor McCoy, Yuma, national committee woman.

2. Elected delegates to the Democratic national convention and instructed them in favor of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Opposition forces, a coalition allegedly sponsored by Gov. B. R. Moore, State Chairman W. P. Sturtevant, Prescott publisher and columnist, and Winthrop publisher, were equally insistent that the convention legally accomplished nothing because it adjourned previously.

The convention went into its greatest uproar—after it already had been thrown into a turmoil by an attack by Mayor Andrew B. Retlaw of Nogales upon W. R. Matthews, publisher of the Arizona Daily Star, Tucson—when a motion was made from the floor to adjourn. Chairman Stuart called for a vote vote, ruled the motion carried, and left the chair.

The Langmade forces, noisily insistent that the convention could not adjourn during a roll call and before scheduled business was transacted, at once declared the chair vacant, installed their own chairman and proceeded to complete what they said was the convention agenda.

Both factions agreed upon only one thing—that the Democratic National committee must decide if the election of Langmade and Mrs. McCoy was legal.

At the same time, however, Frank Gegax, chairman of the Maricopa delegation and wheelhorse of the Langmade forces, said county committee meetings would be called to ratify the convention's actions.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

LINDA BOURNE, 29 years old, pretty, is left almost penniless by the sudden death of her father.

PETER GARDNER, newspaper reporter, helps her get a job writing society news. Linda is in the grip of DIXIE CARTER, but goes abroad to study singing.

When Peter asks her to marry him, she agrees, but postpones the wedding.

HONEY HARMON, film star, comes to Newtown, making a "personal appearance" tour. Peter goes to interview her and sells her a scenario. CARTER, who has gone abroad to study singing, Honey offers Peter a job in Hollywood, but he refuses. Later, however, when Linda is offered a job there she accepts.

Peter says, "I guess that means you don't want to marry me."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XI

PETE had his answer from Linda when he looked into her eyes, lowered before his steady gaze, but not before he had seen them mist with tears. Then, for the first time, he understood that Linda loved him, but not with all her heart. Linda had given him her affection, but not even a small measure of the love that he had for her.

He drove her to the railroad station and the train that would take her away, and they found few words to say to each other. Linda wanted to tell him things that she found herself too inarticulate to put into words. Pete knew what she wanted to say, and he didn't want to hear it.

"Goodbye, darling," he said. "Write me how wonderful Hollywood is, and I'll send you some grape letters."

She put her arms around him, and pressed her head to his shoulder. "Goodbye, Pete, don't ever forget me. I'll always think of you, and I'll write you the minute I arrive."

For Pete asked himself if it was possible when, that night and many other nights, trying to forget her, he sat and labored over the play he was to call "Remembrance."

And Linda, speeding west, thought of Pete and missed him and knew that she was going to miss him.

ONCE before Linda had faced something that was important to her, and put it behind for all time. There had been Dix, and now there was Pete. She had not been fair to him. Selfishly she had taken his love because she needed it and because she had cared for him, but never the way that he deserved.

Thinking of him with her eyes closed, she thought how very women would give Pete the kind of love he offered, and she felt a little sorry for herself that she couldn't feel that way. Well, it was ended now. She had been selfish too long. She would not hold him any longer with vague promises of the future. She, Linda Bourne, was on her way to

Dressing in her simple knitted frock the next morning, she slipped the telegram into her handbag. "Moral support, as usual," she said, snapping its clasp.

COLBECK AGAIN ATTACKS BIBLE AS IMPRACTICAL

The Bible teaches an unworkable standard of living; Christ will not return again in person; the Jewish scriptures will not bring peace on earth or good will to men; and there will be no future rapture of a privileged class.

These were among the declarations of the Rev. Edwin O. Colbeck, in an address here yesterday, when he said:

"The Christian church stands impotent in these days of unrest. Religion has become an opiate. It has robbed men of the ability to think clearly. Everywhere we hear the Gospel of Fear:—The Judgment of God is imminent. The battle of Armageddon is just around the corner, the world will end on September 16, 1936, and other swindle in the same strain. The result is, men are uninterested in politics, or social reconstruction, waiting for an unnatural thing to happen.

"The preposterous idea, that Christ will come a second time, to restore a state of Jewish nationalism, has robbed us of our right to think and act. We have a religious slogan: 'Let George do it.' But the Christ will not return in person. There will be no great tribulation. There will be no rapture of a privileged class. The end of the world will not come in five months.

"Peace on earth and good will among men will not be realized by following the teachings of the Jewish Scriptures. Nor will universal social justice be ushered in by imaginative readings of the pyramids. The Bible has taught us unworkable standards of living, and brought worldwide disaster. Prophetic programs are perversions of truth.

"Social justice and brotherly equality can be experienced when we practice the Golden Rule, and follow the teachings of the Sermon on the Mount. The evolution of society has never been enriched by cataclysmic judgments. Salvation is not attained by substitution or divine intervention. Man works out his own salvation upon the basis of loving God and his neighbor as himself."

PRESBYTERIAN CHOIR TO PAY HONOR TO MOTHER ON SUNDAY

The well known Young People's Choir of the First Presbyterian Church of Santa Ana is to honor all Mothers next Sunday afternoon in a special Vesper program to be given in the Presbyterian church at Sixth and Sycamore streets at 4:30 o'clock, according to O. Scott McFarland, minister of the church.

The Young People's choir, which has had such a remarkable growth, and is taking a place among the outstanding musical organizations of the county Rev. McFarland said, is one of the four choirs which are maintained and supported by the Presbyterian church in this city. Since the inauguration of the "Westminster Plan" in the church, these four choirs have been developed out of the membership of the church, and have presented numerous programs of very high caliber which have been attended by the public, including the presentation of that great cantata "The Crucifixion" by Sir John Stainer on Good Friday night at which time the Presbyterian church was taxed with an overflow audience.

The Young People's choir which presents the sacred concert next Sunday afternoon, wear robes which are exact duplicates of the robes worn by the world-famous Westminster choir of Princeton, N. J. These robes are a rich wine color with cream colored collars worn by the women of the choir. It was learned today that the program next Sunday afternoon will also include a service of dedication at which time the choir and its new Westminster robes will be publicly dedicated to the service of the church.

HOLLYWOOD, May 4.—Idle-taller than six feet "hadn't a chance" — and Torrance was six-three.

Lloyd Nolan tells the best story of the week. His wife ordered new household furniture, and when he arrived the van driver was delighted to find he could park his truck in the basement garage to unload. So far, so good. But when the load was removed and the springs, that caused the body of the truck to raise until the truck was three inches too high to roll out of the garage. The driver knitted heavy brows in thought, drawn between reloading the truck or knocking out the garage wall. Nolan's timely arrival saved the wall. He merely advised the driver to deflate the tires. That lowered the truck sufficiently to clear the door jamb.

ARRESTS HERE IN APRIL SHOW DECIDED DROP

The 460 arrests by Police Chief Floyd W. Howard and his men last month reveal crime here has reached its greatest "calm" since before the holidays of 1935. In March, 563 were arrested; in February, 569, and in January, 539.

An arrest report comparison of April with March reveals April as having less drunkenness, less city traffic ordinance violations, less drunk driving and less burglary. A compilation of figures, presented today by Desk Sergeant B. F. Lutz for Chief Howard, shows six automobiles were stolen and six recovered here last month as compared with five stolen and five recovered in March. In both April and March, one automobile was recovered for another city; April figures show 15 bicycles stolen and eight recovered, as compared with 16 stolen and eight recovered in March.

In March and April, respectively, comparative figures show 389 and 371 calls answered; 300 and 243 car calls answered; $2062 and $2379 worth of property stolen with $1979 and $2081 recovered. Arrests for March and April, respectively, are: assault, 3-4; bench warrants, 26-6; burglary, 6-3; city traffic ordinance, 235-246; drunk, 64-51; fictitious check, 2-1; carrying concealed weapon, 0-1; grand theft, 2-1; petty theft, 2-2; forgery, 0-1; city license ordinance, 1-2; vagrancy, 6-6; California vehicle code, 96-126; drunk driving, 9-5; runaway children, 2-2, and violation of parole, 0-1.

Annual Junior College Fiesta Plans Revealed

PARADE TO BE OPENING EVENT FOR FESTIVAL

With the selection of Miss Lois Murray and John Ramirez as Don and Dona, Thomas H. Glenn, head of the Santa Ana Junior college English department, today disclosed plans for the entertaining of more than 700 high school seniors on Fiesta day, May 15.

The day will begin at 10:30 with a parade starting from College hall on the campus, down Main street, north on Broadway, ending in the arena to be constructed also on the campus. The parade will be led by the Don and Dona in the traditional oxcart. Arrangements are also being made for an escort on horseback. All the students of the school will participate, clad in Spanish and Mexican costumes for the day.

Program in Arena

Beginning the morning arena program, the Don and Dona will be crowned. The program will include addresses by Father Owen, Santa Barbara, and Robert Ernest Cowan, noted California bibliophile, together with Spanish songs and dances.

The day also includes a luncheon for the guests, an afternoon arena program, a dance in the evening, a dinner, and the presentation of "The Command Performance" at night by the drama students of the school. Harris Warren is general Fiesta chairman, aided by Glenn as faculty advisor, and a host of committee heads.

Direction of Fiesta day play was started today by Ernest Crozier Phillips, drama instructor.

The production is to be presented Friday and Saturday evenings, May 15 and 16 at Willard auditorium in Santa Ana.

Miss Agnes Brady and Arthur Coleman, advanced drama students, are to be co-starred in the ninth annual production having been selected some time ago. Both students appeared in "Smilin' Through," staged last year.

Historical Background

The three-act drama, "The Command Performance," is based on the historical interpretation of a young Russian who traveled to Montenegro posing as the heir to the Russian throne. This Stephen Mall gained the confidence of the people in that country, married a native princess, and ruled with some success for a brief period.

The two fictitious countries, Wallachia and Moldavia, are at odds over a treaty, and in order to patch the relations between the two, Peter Kraditsch, an actor, is selected to personify the real Prince Alexis, to go to Wallachia and settle the differences by marrying the Princess Katerina. ## Glendale Kirk Gives Setting For Marriage

Glendale's Wee Kirk o' the Heather, with its quaint old-world charm heightened by the flowers and ivy within its stone walls, was setting Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, for the service uniting in marriage, Ora M. Tetzlaff and Elmer Schanell.

Prominence of the couple made the wedding of interest to scores of friends who assembled in the church to hear a delightful song service to which Robert Brown added the solos, "Through the Years" and "Bless This House".

The wedding party was one of simplicity, Mrs. Tetzlaff having as her matron of honor, her sister, Mrs. Harry J. Simons of St. Paul, Minn., who came to California especially for the ceremony.

The bride, dressed in the softest of platinum gray sheer crepe, it was a formal afternoon gown with matching accessories and her effective appearance was completed by a corsage cluster of orchids mingled with lilies of the valley.

Roy Edwards of Orange assisted Mrs. Schanell as best man. The Rev. W. S. Buchanan, pastor of Santa Ana First Christian church, read the marriage service with dignity and beauty.

Among guests bidden to the rites were Judge and Mrs. G. K. Soovel, Judge and Mrs. James L. Allen, Judge and Mrs. Emerson Marks, Judge and Mrs. Kenneth E. Morrison, Dr. and Mrs. Harry E. Zales, the Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Buchanan, Miss Mildred McBea, Mrs. Cora Kurrie, Miss Genevieve Humiston, Miss Ruth Robertson, Miss Helene Kubitz, Mrs. M. E. McBea, Fred L. J. Smith, Earl Abbey, Santa Ana.

Mrs. Harry J. Simons, St. Paul, Minn.; Senator and Mrs. Nelson T. Edwards, Mrs. B. A. Swanwick, and Mrs. Lynn Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hitchcock, Messrs. Roy Edwards, Phil Swanwick, Louis Tetzlaff, Orange; Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Albright, San Diego; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar M. ## Hosts Conclude Series Of Dinner Parties In Their Home

Although last in a series of early spring dinner events at which Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Ranney have been hosts from time to time during the past few weeks, their formal entertaining Saturday night was one of the pleasantest yet given in their home, 2321 North Park boulevard.

For her table appointments, Mrs. Ranney gave emphasis to blue and white by mingling cornflowers and snowy sweet peas in the effective arrangements both of the dining table and the five smaller tables grouped in proximity. Novel and completely enchanting little pastel hued tapers, slim and tall, and in softest of pastel colors, rose unexpectedly from the mingled blossoms and lighted the tables.

In the contract session of the after-dinner hours, Dr. W. Maxwell Burke and Mrs. Alvin Nowotny took high honors, and Mrs. E. T. Mater was low. They were rewarded—and in Mrs. Mater's case, consoled, with gifts of the always popular Yardi's toilettries.

Mr. and Mrs. Ranney included on their guest list, Messrs. and Mesdames Theo Wimbiger, Alvin Nowotny, A. N. Zerman, Harry Westover, A. J. Lasby, B. H. Sharpless, J. F. Burke, Charles P. Boyer, Adam Zaiser, W. Maxwell Burke, George Walk, E. T. Mater, Charles E. Walker, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Paul and Mrs. Jessie White.

Glenn Home Is Setting For Dinner Preceding Tournament Finale

Sharing a mutual warm interest in Community Players' association and the progress of the one act play tournament at which it was the host organization, late in the past week, a little group of members especially enjoyed a home-variety of the popular "tournament dinners" when Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Glenn entertained Saturday night in advance of the tournament's finale.

Dinner was set for an early hour so that guests might enjoy the friendly atmosphere of the Glenn home, 2473 Riverside drive, and the distinctive touch given by the charmingly arranged flowers. Among these were Irish Elegance roses from Mrs. Robert C. Northcross, which Mrs. Glenn grouped in a copper bowl and placed on the mantel. Again she mingled the stately pink and deep blue iris and delphinium sprays brought by Miss Lella Watson, in a tall jar as a dining room detail where they harmonized strikingly with the blue theme of the room.

For her table she chose the airy grace of columbine, and there she had covers for herself and Mr. Glenn as hosts, and for Miss Dorothy Harman of Anaheim, Mrs. E. E. Kesch, Miss Lella Watson, Miss Lillian Dickson, Mrs. Robert C. Northcross, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crozier Phillips, Messrs. William N. Cummings and Robert Northcross Jr. Later the guests formed a theater party at the final tournament program in Ebbl auditorium.

Tux And Gown Anniversary Is Brilliantly Celebrated

Just a year ago when members of Santa Ana's younger social set launched a dancing club to bring a measure of gay brilliancy into the social season here, they anticipated many happy affairs. But reality has far exceeded such anticipations, and the Tux and Gown dances have been some of the smartest parties given in the city. Saturday night, when the anniversary ball was held in Santa Ana Country club, scene of the opening dance a year ago, the charm and interest of that initial event were duplicated.

Leland Allen's orchestra, ex-Fowler's black and white checked not was extremely modish with its prim pique touches and its patent leather belt.

Parties both before and after the dance added gayety to the anniversary celebration. One of the most interesting was in the George H. Spielman home, 1125 South Parton street, where Mr. and Mrs. Spielman received Messrs. and Mesdames George Walker, Frederick Elliott, Harold Dale, Albert Harvey, Alvin Stauffer, Gregg Watson, Charles McDaniel Jr., Robert Guild, Roger Hearne of Riverside, Robert Miller, and their own interest.

Special Feature
To Miss Harriet Gruettner and her fiancé, Remington Mills, was accorded place of honor in a circle of gay dancers as the strains of Lohengrin swept from the orchestra. For the engagement of the two had been announced only that afternoon, Miss Gruettner wore a powder blue gown in princess style, with orchids sent by her fiancé. Her handsome marquis diamond was quite the center of interest among the young people.

An interesting guest was Miss Florence Sturdevant of Occidental college, guest of the George H. Spielman, who danced in a lovely gown of cornflower chiffon. In-froed the entire party was distinguished by the modish frocks worn, and the effect in the maze of the dances was especially lovely.

There were striking contrasts in color and materials. Miss Helen Spangler's brunette charm was intensified by the deep American Beauty shade of her silk faille gown with which she wore gardenias. A more naive accent was introduced by Miss Anne Tarver's demurely lovely starched linen lace with its touches of peach. Mrs. E. F. Bruning showed an original idea in her black and white polka-dotted costume, in which combination of colors in the bodice was reversed in the long skirt.

Other Costumes
Mrs. Frank Harrington wore one of the handsomest gowns on the dance floor, a chartreuse green of complicated draping. Mrs. Oliver Lindemeyer's gold-embroidered black satin was smartly sophisticated, while Mrs. Kingsley Tuttle achieved charm with the quaint simplicity of her embroidered pink organza. Mrs. Edward Hall's dithyrambic chiffon ranging from pale flesh tints to deep and glowing red, was most effective as was Mrs. Burt Frederick Zaiser's wine-red swiss dotted with cornflower blue, accented with shoes in the latter hue, and the cornflowers she wore as a corsage.

Mrs. Roger Hearne's floral print frock had a striking accent in the long sash of American Beauty and chartreuse satin; Mrs. Heber Joseph Winder was host to a little group at 1250 South Ross street, where he received the Misses Nan and Lolita Mead, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Smith and Dick Pollock, the latter from Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heffner and Mr. and Mrs. Colby McKinley received quite a group of friends, the majority of them from out of the city, although there were a few of their Santa Ana friends in the party. They had among others, Miss Lorraine Martel who is to give a Junior Ebbl concert this week, and her manager, Mr. Douglas, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Harland Wachins of San Diego, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Harman of Anaheim, and Dr. and Mrs. Masters of Los Angeles.

The Chester Hortons were hosts informally in their home on Heliotrope Drive, and many similar parties were in progress.

Tournament Conference Saturday Introduces Excellent Speaker

Always anticipated as one of the high lights of the annual Southern California tournament of One Act Plays to which Santa Ana Community Players' association is host each April, is the Saturday afternoon round table of the conclave.

This year's event, staged at 2 o'clock Saturday in Ebbl clubhouse lounge, was declared by the large crowd in attendance, to be one of the most interesting over the decade of the tournament's existence. Praise was lavished on Bert Eaton of San Bernardino, who filled the post of chairman as a gesture of friendly co-operation, and provided a program of such outstanding merit, that everyone was delighted.

He introduced as guest speaker, Dr. Tempe Allison, dean of women at San Bernardino Junior college, and her informal account of travel experiences in Soviet Russia, especially those dealing with Little Theaters, was an educational and entertaining treat.

Dr. Allison, who was formerly connected with Smith college, spent the past summer in Russia, and had the unique privilege of visiting innumerable theaters and also of meeting prominent heads of the theatrical movement there. It was especially interesting in view of the praise accorded Touchstone Drama Workshop Group's presentation of "The Revealing Moment" on Friday night, to hear that Dr. Allison had met both Konstantin Stanislavsky, the director, and the widow of Anton Chekhov, about whom the action of "The Revealing Moment" revolves.

Illustrating her talk were many photographs of the modernistic theaters recently erected in Russia, members of the casts, and details of their stages and auditoriums. She had succeeded in bringing these pictures out with her, although she was not allowed to take them into Poland, because they were considered such rank propaganda.

In the round table conference of the afternoon, Mr. Eaton directed the talks in channels of helpfulness to the various little theater groups, seeking for light in overcoming problems that beset them. Many ideas were gleaned from the informal talks that ensued.

Guests lingered to enjoy the tea hour in the clubhouse patio, where three lace-spread, flower-centered tables vied in popularity. Their individual hostesses were Mrs. Charles A. Riggs, donor of the Charles A. Riggs memorial award; Mrs. William E. Otis, donor of the Emma G. Otis cup, and Mrs. Henry Waterman of Monrovia, co-donor with William Cummings and his daughters, Margaret Cummins Kessler and Julia Cummings Williams, of the Julia Beaumont Cummings memorial cup. Assisting in serving the tea menu were Mrs. Robert S. Wade, Mrs. Clair Hanson, Mrs. Louis Hanson, Miss Mary Bruner, Miss Marion Bruner, and many other members of the association.

Engagement Is Made Known To Guests At Tea

Here in this city, former home of Miss Eliza Venn, where her charm of personality won her so many friends, it seemed appropriate that announcement should be made, as was done yesterday at a formal tea, of her approaching June wedding to Jack Sanders of Aurora, Ill.

Miss Venn, now of San Diego, and her mother and grandmother, Mrs. George B. White and Mrs. Charles Eggleston of the southern city, were guests in the home of Mrs. A. E. Goetting, 3429 Spurgeon street. It was to be Miss Venn's final visit here before her marriage, so yesterday afternoon two of her former high school friends, Miss Eugenia Gilbert and Mrs. Lee Hasenjaeger (Roselind Schilling) complimented her at a tea.

The hostesses were privileged to stage their hospitality in the reception rooms of the Vistel-Haughton studio, 425 West First street, where quantities of flowers enhanced the charm of the period furnishings. The blossoms were in bright, soft colors, and were arranged in creamy pottery bowls. In the receiving line were Mrs. Hasenjaeger, wearing a smart frock of white lace; Miss Gilbert in delicate pink lace, and their honoree, Miss Venn, in graceful pink net.

Mrs. Robert Schilling and Mrs. E. S. Gilbert assisted their daughters throughout the afternoon, and Miss Eugenia Gilbert was dining room hostess. Three linen spread tables were grouped for the tea hour, each centered with a white cornucopia of sweet peas and maidenhair fern from which soared white tapers. Sandwiches, small iced cakes and other dainties were grouped on two tables, while the silver tea service was arranged on the central one, where Mrs. White presided. Favors were snowballs, to each of which was attached the scroll bearing the engagement and wedding date announcement. The date selected is June 14.

Miss Venn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. White, former Santa Anans who now live in San Diego where Mr. White is WPA director for district 12, comprising both San Diego and Orange counties. She was active in social, club and church circles while here, and was especially prominent in Wrycende Maegden and in affairs of the First Presbyterian young people where she worked with Mrs. F. E. Coulter. Her university work was at U.C. L.A. where she was affiliated with Alpha Omicron Pi sorority.

Mr. Sanders is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sanders of Aurora, and had his university studies at both University of Chicago and University of Florida. His fraternal affiliation is with Delta Tau Delta.

After their June wedding, which is to take place in San Diego, the young people will leave at once for Aurora where Mr. Sanders is in business. They will make it a leisurely honeymoon trip, however, visiting Lake Louise and Banff enroute east, among other scenic points of interest.

Friends included on the guest list for the party at which these plans were revealed, included Mesdames Logan Barnett, Laguna Beach; Ernest Martin and Norbert Megowen, Los Angeles; Robert Fuller, Costa Mesa; Shelby Watts, Long Beach; Ennis O. Brough, Lawrence Minge, Leonard Johnson, Roy Grise, F. C. Pope, Colby McKinney, F. E. Coulter, A. E. Goetting, Robert Schilling, E. S. Gilbert, A. B. Gardner, the Messrs. Imogene McCauley, Amy Reid, Nora Reid, Geraldine Gilbert, Doris Bolles, Mary Ford, Katherine Spicer, Marie Smith, Helen Glancy, Marie Moog, of this city, and Mrs. White and Mrs. Eggleston of San Diego.

MRS. VALDES DIES
FULLERTON, May 4.—Mrs. Isabel B. Valdes, 42, a native of Porto Rico, but a resident of California for seven years, passed away at the home of a friend, Miss Ruth Moody, 615 West Whiting, Fullerton, early this morning after an extended illness.

She is survived by one son, Alfonso David Valdes of Fullerton; three sisters, Mrs. Marie Imandt of New York City, Mrs. Rosa Admador of New York, and Miss Delia M. Baco of Riverside.

Recitation of the holy rosary will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Hilgenfeld funeral home, Anaheim.

OLIVE TO VOTE ON $8000 BOND ISSUE TUESDAY

OLIVE, May 4.—A bond election to provide $8000 for a community recreational project to be financed further with federal funds will be placed before voters of the Olive grammar school district tomorrow at the primary election.

Three precincts will be established, one at the St. Paul's parochial school at Olive, one at Porter's garage at St. James and one at the Yorba school.

The bond election is one postponed from April 7 when a misunderstanding of requirements occasioned by new registration lists caused the cancellation of the election at that time.

The cost of the center is estimated at $15,000 and government approval of the project and the appropriation of additional funds depends on the result of the election.

Land for the center was donated by Jotham Bixby. Plans include an auditorium and recreational courts and rooms in the building with courts outside and beautifully landscaped grounds.

THE TINYMITES

Soon all the gold was loaded in the sacks and Dotty, with a grin, said, "Well, kind old prospector, you should be a happy man."

"No more will you have any strife, because, right now, you're set for life. When you start out to see the world, have all the fun you can."

"That's right," said Scouty, "You just live but once. Take all the world will give. Enjoy things as you travel, and don't miss a single thing."

"For years and years we've traveled 'round. There's little that we haven't found. Before you get much older, you'll be wise to have your fling."

"That's just what I intend to do, but first I must consider you," the old man said. "You found the gold and gave it all to me."

"I'm going to stay right here until I give you Tinymites a thrill. I won't be satisfied until I pay you back, you see."

Then Dotty cried, "I have a hunch. We'd love it if you'd serve some lunch. There's nothing we like better than a very tasty meal."

"Ah, miss, no sooner said than done, and getting it will be real fun," the old man answered. "Now, into my cabin I will steal."

"I will not say what I'll prepare, but rest assured it will be rare. Out here's a toadstool table with some toadstool chairs around."

"That's where you'll eat. Now, wait right here. I'll soon bring food out, never fear." "We'll gladly wait," said Goldy. Then they sprawled upon the ground.

They had to wait for quite a while, and then the old man, with a smile, came walking from his cabin with a platter in his hand.

U. S. C. WINS FIRST PLACE IN DRAMA

The fact that decision was to be rendered by the judges on Saturday night, drew the customary expectant crowd to the Ebell auditorium for the closing night's plays. Havrah Hubbard, San Diego dramatic critic, was to be spokesman for the judging trio, which included also Agnes Emelle Peterson, Pasadena playwright, and Esther Culp Litchfield, Fullerton Junior college faculty member. Hubbard's summary of good and bad points in technique and presentation of plays is always so searching, so frank and so lacking in personal bias, that it is considered educational and helpful for everyone taking part in theatrical work, whether as director, actor, technician or playwright.

After he had summarized the plays Saturday night, he gave his attention to work of individual actors. To Jack West of the Manhattan Community Players, cast in "Storm," and Barbara Farley of the Long Beach Play-ers who was "Mary" in "The Flowering Staff," went the host association's gifts of volumes of plays. Mayor Fred C. Rowland made the presentation of trophies which were received by directors or by individual actors.

Outstanding Production
"Storm," in which the work of Jack West called forth such high praise, was the opening play on Saturday night's bill. The parts of "Maggie Jordan" and "John Jordan" were taken by "Will DuBois" and Jack West, with "Harvey" played by Dick Beynon. This dramatic offering was a slightly different version of the eternal triangle, and the audience gave enthusiastic response to the fine work of the three players. West handled his drunken scenes with mastery, finesse, and his praise by the judges, met with the approval of those who have watched the three nights of plays. Miss DuBois interpreted the wife's role skillfully and Dick Beynon received commendation from the judges for making the lover a very real individual rather than a figurehead. The play was directed by Vanita Sutton and Ted DuBois.

To many in the audience, the San Diego Barn Players created one of the most memorable intervals in the tournament with their "Unnamed" by Mabel Chamberlain, directed by David R. Young. The play had such tender beauty without sentimentality, such delicate flashes of humor and such a fresh viewpoint that it was interesting to know that its author was in the audience. "Donal" played by Peter Cookson, and "The Girl" played by Jeanne Sharon, both received honorable mention in the judges' summary, to the approval of the audience. Equally deft in their portrayals were Doris Spies as the Mother, Helen Butler as "Ruth," and David R. Young (director) as "Collins," a servant.

This entertaining Joseph C. Lincoln comedy closed the contest, but not the entertainment, for while the judges were deliberating Monrovia Players presented the delightful absurdity, "In 1939" by Henry C. DeMille. Henry Waterman directed the cast in which Mrs. Waterman as "Florence," poached on the marital preserves of "Jean" played by Mrs. James Richardson, with W. Joyner Cornes as "Rollo," who sat working on the proverbial "tiny granary" as the audience was seduced for his affections. Monrovia has always taken fine interest in the tournament, and this courtesy play was another example of co-operation, as well as a finale well calculated to send the audience home in a glow of good humor.

While Havrah Hubbard was granting honorable mention to various individuals and groups, including Charles Radford of Laguna Beach Community Players, he took occasion to comment on the manner in which Santa Ana Players have conducted the annual tournament, and the enviable place held by the association in the theater world. One of four little theater groups to have attained national prominence both for its fine record over more than 15 years' existence as a smoothly running organization which has escaped the dissensions and fissures of so many groups, and as promoter of the tournament, one of the principal ones in theatrical history.

Mrs. Horn Praised
He also complimented Mrs. Robert Horn upon the manner in which she has conducted management of the tournament, the fine work of the stage crew and electricians, and the high standards of the musical programs. The audience applauded these compliments vigorously.

Practically everyone remained for the after-theater party in the peacock room. Mrs. Harry L. Hanson, wife of the Players' association president, and Mrs. William H. Spurgeon whose husband held that position for a number of years, poured tea and coffee at the flower laden table. Sandwiches and cake were served by various members of the association and the affair was one of the pleasantest of the season.

Prior to the program the four casts had been complimented at dinner in James' cafe where each night's entrants had been similarly honored on the two previous evenings. Many members of the

VOTE TOMORROW

Every citizen who has a right of franchise should exercise his right tomorrow at the California Primaries. We cannot have better elected officers than we nominate at the primaries. There is more than merely voting at the Primaries. Every voter should first study the principles advocated by the candidates, as well as their character and the practicability of the men seeking nomination. Just blind voting is not enough. Every time a good man is nominated, it encourages other good men to be candidates. Unless we can get capable, conscientious men to seek office, our standard of living will continue to decline.

Vote tomorrow and vote intelligently!

EXAMPLE OF MADE WORK

"All the world's a stage," Shakespeare wrote—and today some of the people are ham actors in President Roosevelt's WPA federal theater project.

That's the opinion of an Oakland, Calif., WPA stage director who has just quit his job in disgust, charging that in Alameda county a group of "erotic and neurotic amateurs who never earned a dollar on any stage" are wasting the taxpayers' money hand over fist.

As we get it, the Alameda mistake is just another example of "sound economics" as espoused by the president who has asserted that "reduced manufacturing costs do not mean more purchasing power and more goods consumed, but just the opposite."

It's too bad we can't unscrew the tops of men's heads so we could look inside and learn how they arrive at some of their conclusions.

Suffice it to say that the F. D. R. plan of recovery, as displayed in Alameda county, finds the WPA business manager—who should know—pointing to "inefficiency born of political favoritism and governmental stupidity costing the taxpayers $110,000 in one county alone."

To get a rough idea of how Roosevelt's "made work" theory operates in one tiny spot of the nation—in Alameda county $50,000 was spent on one WPA stage production, "The Taming of the Shrew." Commercial production of the same play on a sound basis could be accomplished for not more than $7,500.

The resigned WPA manager says that daily he had to contend with orders, "beautifully conceived, but as impractical as mixing oil with water," which left him open to ridicule and distrust by anyone conversant with the situation. After listening to the president's latest campaign speech on how to pull the nation out of the economic mire, it appears that the theater project manager's "oil and water" simile could just as handily be applied to other Roosevelt theories.

U. S. AGAIN MAY HEED CRY FOR INDEPENDENCE

The good people of Puerto Rico have been wearing expressions of pained surprise ever since Senator Tydings pushed into the Senate hopper a bill which would give them a chance to say whether they wish to be a free and independent nation.

The surprise and pain are out of all proportion to the amount of noise the Puerto Ricans have been making about independence of late. To listen to that talk, one would have thought that the islanders unanimously were groaning under the iron heel of a pitiless despotism. But now that the road to independence is beginning to open, they are protesting that it is a low Yankee trick.

Politics in Puerto Rico seems to be quite as messy as in the United States, if not a little more so; and the politicians have learned that the cruel repression of Uncle Sam is the handiest of all stalking horses in a hot campaign. They have agitated for independence in impassioned voices, assuring their constituents that if the despotic Americans would only get out the millennium would surely dawn.

Senator Tydings proposes to take them at their word.

His bill would provide for a general election on the island, in which the Puerto Ricans could say once and for all whether they want to go their own way.

If they voted for independence, the United States would withdraw after four years. Puerto Rico would get what the Philippines are getting. After a brief transition period, they would become as free as any people on earth.

And, of course, if they voted against independence, the issue would be buried for keeps.

Senator Tydings' plan will strike most Americans as highly sensible. If the people of Puerto Rico want out, let them out by all means. If they don't, let them stop blaming all their woes on Uncle Sam and get down to the business of facing realities.

As a matter of fact, it is quite possible that as independence actually comes in sight, it will lose its fine glitter. Uncle Sam has been pouring relief money into the island at the rate of $1,000,000 a month. He also has provided a $26,000,000 reconstruction program. Furthermore, the American market is chiefly what keeps Puerto Rico alive.

The native office seeker may make political capital out of American repression so long as independence is only a distant dream. When he gets a chance to make the dream come true, he may start singing a different song.

But whether that be true or not, the Puerto Ricans should have their chance to express themselves. Get the independence issue cleared up once and for all, and the islanders should be a great deal happier.

IT SEEMS TO BE COMING TRUE

With the federal government being unable to raise enough taxes by approximately six billion dollars to pay for its operating expenses, it looks as if an article written by former President Coolidge in July, 1932, and published in Collier's, is approaching realization. It is as follows:

"Our danger lies in indirect attacks on our property rights under the guise of taxation. This is rendered possible by constitutional changes already made.

"Many are beginning to wonder if it would not be wise to supplement our system of taxation by providing that a large number of people should pay small but direct tax.

"If it is necessary to meet an emergency, excessive high taxation on a few large incomes might be taxed temporarily without great injury.

"But to adopt such a system permanently and, under the pretense of raising revenue, pursue a policy of expropriation and attempted redistribution of wealth, would have the gravest consequences. One of two things would be likely to result: Enterprise would be stifled, accumulations of property would be dissipated, and a condition of depression would become chronically progressive, with a falling standard of living, economic suffering and great poverty on the part of the people. The other alternative would be the creation of a class of great wealth who would have a large control of the government because it would be dependent on their money support. Only under some system of privilege and by exploiting the people could such class continue to pay the high taxes required. That would be the re-creation of the age of over-lords. The rest of us would be reduced to dependency. In either case the people lose."

It seems things are approaching the condition predicted above much more rapidly than anyone would have thought at the time this was written and published. It seems that President Coolidge had a rare faculty of being able to see what was bound to happen from the laws and customs that we had established and come to believe in, and judging from what had always happened under similar conditions in past history.

Unless the people are willing to recognize that the consumer eventually pays all taxes in lower standard of living and, thus, reducing the cost of government, the prediction made by Coolidge is bound to come about.

SOUND WAGES, SOUND PROFITS, SOUND MONEY, SOUND TAXATION

It seems the more the public attempts to artificially increase wages and profits, the more unemployment, lower real wages and the less profits we have. It has come to be generally believed by students of economics that we cannot have a sound money system unless we have a sound wage and profit system; that is, profits and wages based on comparison being equal for equal units of service. When any group is permitted to receive artificial wages or artificial profits, of necessity, other workers must receive less than the natural wage and the fair wage and other profits must be less than the natural and fair profit. As this comes to be too much out of proportion, those who are obliged to receive the unnaturally low wage, revolt.

We are now reaping the result of this kind of a program started in 1913. It came to the climax in 1929. We are now reducing wages and profits by the artificial inflation method. This, of course, works a great hardship on those who have life insurance policies and credits. It seems that neither wages, profits, taxes or money can long remain sound if any one of the items are artificial and unnatural.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

Peanut politics: Charging your opponent with saying something he didn't say and then denouncing him for saying it.

Even silly things are useful. Many a two-car garage turned out to be a nice apartment for part of the family.

Some people tell you they aren't superstitious, but you'll notice they behave better after a narrow escape.

Why blame lawyers alone? No lawyer can defeat justice without the help of a judge or jury.

The true rugged individualist is one who can eat chicken with his fingers without making any excuses.

A HICK TOWN IS A PLACE WHERE THE HERO IN THE HIGH SCHOOL PLAY BORROWS THE PREACHER'S LONG-TAILED COAT.

Never bother to nail a lie. Your friends won't believe it, and your enemies won't believe the truth.

Most people are so decent they can't bear the sight of cruelty to any animal except man.

It's got so almost anybody accused of crime can "beat the rap" unless he is a simple, honest fellow.

AMERICANISM: Trying two killers for similar murders; finding one innocent and the other guilty of being a male.

It is easy to insure peace. Just give poor nations the equal share they are preparing to fight for.

There are all kinds of people, including those who think Bruno shouldn't have been electrocuted because maybe he had help.

Money isn't everything. A million dollars won't buy the kind of devotion that likes to sew on a button for you.

LET US BE THANKFUL FOR THE TOOTH BRUSH. IT IS THE ONLY THING THAT CHRONIC BORROWERS HAVEN'T THE NERVE TO BORROW.

The one never-failing sucker trap is to promise something big and require a little money for expenses.

The gang scheme isn't new. Every "great conqueror" since Alexander has used the same plan for the same purpose.

"I can no longer remain silent in this crisis" usually means: "I am looking for a political job."

Life is full of trials and troubles, most of which wouldn't be noticed if your liver worked right.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "OUR PREACHER'S WIFE WEARS SWELL CLOTHES," SAID THE HICK-TOWN GOSPEL, "AND NOBODY MAKES ANY CATTY COMMENT."

Here It Comes!

Day By Day In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1935)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The most important event of this week in national affairs was the handing down of an opinion by the supreme court of the United States that sets up a guide of constructive value in aiding the citizen and the government to steer a safe course through the mazes of new law that have been set up in recent years.

The average man probably does not realize that, as government has become more and more complicated and tasks that the legislative bodies have turned over to executive agencies or commissions, the rights of the citizen have to be determined in a judicial fashion, especially if some question arises whether he is or is not complying with a given regulation.

The tendency on the part of congress, and for that matter state legislatures, too, has been to write a law in general terms and leave it to a commission or board to proclaim regulations as to details. More than this, the right has been given to commissions to take testimony at hearings, some public and some private, and then it has been stipulated that, as to "question of fact," the decision of the commission shall be final and conclusive.

This merely means that, while court review is not taken away, the opportunity for a court to look into a case to see whether a citizen's constitutional rights have been forfeited might seem to be limited. In other words, the reviewing court, if it had to accept the findings of fact by a commission or executive department, would never be able to tell whether constitutional rights have been lost. For the so-called "findings" amount usually to an interpretation of the evidence, and hence a reviewing court would get a colored view of that evidence if the executive agency happened to be politically minded or prejudiced with the viewpoint of a particular class in the economic struggle of today.

How then can a citizen be assured of court review? Congress has shown an inclination to write into the law itself some limitation on the right of appeal. The supreme court of the United States alone, however, can determine what is the supreme law of the land. This was a power vested in the supreme court by the constitution itself. Hence, it becomes important to see whether congress can limit the right of court review. Chief Justice Hughes, speaking for the supreme court, upheld the right of review where constitutional rights were jeopardized.

The case in point arose with reference to the enforcement of the stockyards act by the secretary of agriculture. It so happens that the "findings" of the secretary were affirmed as correct by all the members of the court. A question developed as to how far weight should be given to evidence taken by the secretary and whether the facts themselves should be examined by the reviewing courts. Justice Brandeis seemed to think the decisions of these fact-finding commissions should be final. Justices Cardozo and Stone thought his reasoning was right, but conceded that the weight of precedent supported the contentions of Chief Justice Hughes, who delivered the opinion of the court. In that opinion, Mr. Hughes said:

"Legislative declaration or finding is necessarily subject to independent judicial review upon the facts and the law by courts of competent jurisdiction to the end that the constitution as the supreme law of the land may be maintained. Nor can the legislature escape the constitutional limitation by authorizing its agent to make findings that the agent has kept within that limitation."

"Legislative agencies, with varying qualifications, work in a field peculiarly exposed to political demands. Some may be expert and impartial, others subservient. It is not difficult for them to observe the requirements of law in giving a hearing and receiving evidence. But to say that their findings of fact may be conclusive where constitutional rights of liberty and property are involved, although the evidence clearly establishes that the findings are wrong and constitutional rights have been invaded, is to place those rights at the mercy of administrative officials and seriously to impair the security inherent in our judicial safeguards."

That prospect, with our multiplication of administrative agencies, is not one to be lightly regarded. The foregoing quotation will surely be of historical importance as a restatement of doctrine or fundamental principle of constitutional law. It takes on new meaning nowadays because many new laws have contained what are called legislative declarations that now become mere "declarations" and are not binding on the courts. For instance, the securities act of 1933 says:

"The findings of the commission as to the facts, if supported by evidence, shall be conclusive."

The securities and exchange act of 1934 contained a duplication of the same provision.

The national labor relations act, after prescribing methods of filing petitions in U. S. circuit courts for enforcement of the board's orders, says:

"The findings of the board as to the facts, if supported by evidence, shall be conclusive."

The public utility act of 1935 and the Guffey coal act contain identical provisions stating that the findings of the commission which enforces each act "shall be conclusive."

Many cases are pending in the lower courts touching on what are or are not the "facts" in labor disputes. If a labor board, which consists of pro-labor members or pro-employer members, should have the power to declare what are the "facts" and this declaration were to be binding, the constitutional rights of the citizen could be swept away virtually by fiat or decree of congress through the simple method of creating an agency or commission to hold hearings and issue findings on the alleged "facts."

The supreme court of the United States, ever vigilant to protect the rights of the citizen, has by its pronouncement reiterated a warning to citizens as well as to government agencies that consti-

Little Renny's Note Book

By LEE PAPE

Me and pop was taking a walk before supper and we was going through the square and I said, G, pop, look at him, do you think he's a holdup man or a racketeer or something?

Meaning some man needing a shave in a red sweater and his cap pulled away down over his eyes, and pop said, Not a bit of it, in fact he's probably just the contrary. It's always been a pet theory of mine that you can tell a man's vocation from his personal appearance. In real life a musician never has long hair, and a policeman, in spite of popular belief, frequently has such small feet that he amuses his guests by getting into his wife's shoes. And so it is with gangsters. A genuine gangster has a voice like a dove, and instead of being big and rough and hairy, he mite easily be mistaken for a tailor's dummy, pop said.

Well then G, pop, what do you think that man on the bench is? I said, and pop said, Something you'd never suspect from his appearance, you may be sure. Perhaps he repairs ladies watches, or possibly he is a dancing instructor for little sisisty children, or may be he is an expert in making dolls say Mamma, pop said.

Why dont you ask him, pop, and find out for sure? I said, and pop said, If he's still there when we come back I'll see if I can lead up to the question.

And on our way back I said, He's still here, pop, and pop said, Who? O, him.

And he went up to him, saying, Excuse me but aren't you the gentleman I saw arranging blossoms in a florist's shop window? and the man said, Naw that must of been me brother. What I do is learn canaries to sing just by the aid of kindness, he said.

Either proving that pop was right or elts that the man was ruck-castic.

In the Long Ago

From The Register Files
25 Years Ago Today

MAY 4, 1911

Charity begins at school among young pupils of McKinley school who have raised the sum of $75 with which to buy an artificial leg for one of their young comrades.

A little girl whose leg had to be amputated a year ago. Today Miss Cartmell school nurse, took the little girl to Los Angeles to have the artificial limb fitted. Mildred Murphy was the child launching the movement to collect the fund, her sympathies being aroused at a fire drill at the school, when the injured child was unable to leave the building with the others.

County Auditor C. D. Lester yesterday entered up the second installment of taxes of Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads.

Constitutional rights cannot be thus taken away. Undoubtedly executive commissions will be more careful in the future, and when a few principles have been set up in a number of test cases, the chances are the supreme court will not be burdened with many cases of reviewing the "facts."

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

SWEDEN POINTS A WAY

Americans do not stand to gain anything by following the leadership either of insensitive reaction or of irresponsible utopianism.

The reactionaries and the radicals are alike false guides.

Three years ago in this column I called attention to the light that might fall on our distinctively American problem from the experience of Sweden.

Sweden has done many things not at all applicable to or necessary in our American situation. I am not suggesting that we should duplicate the Swedish program, I am suggesting only that the approach of Swedish leadership to the peculiar problems of this generation is a refreshingly realistic approach.

What is that approach?

The Swedish people have persistently refused to be swept off their feet by the crusading appeals of any of the isms that have been blown across the world by the night winds of despair and hysteria during the last two decades.

Sweden has not gone Communist.

Sweden has not gone Fascist.

Sweden has not gone Nazi.

Sweden has not given individualism its unreined head.

Sweden has been stubbornly realistic.

Sweden has not tried the fatal experiment of a MIXED ECONOMY, by which I mean that Sweden has not pretended to worship at the shrine of private enterprise and then hamstring private enterprise with collectivist domination so that it could not act true to itself.

Sweden has fearlessly run the parallel economies alongside each other. When some particular enterprise was by its very nature a fit subject for public operation, Sweden has operated it. When private enterprise, in fields obviously suited best to private operation, has failed to act in the best interest of the Swedish public, Sweden has not had a "public ownership" brainstorm, but has quietly put a public unit alongside the private units, on an equal basis of operation, as check and pact setter. Sweden has encouraged a self-help cooperative movement. Sweden has achieved the utmost that can be achieved in the way of a rationally planned national life without centralizing all power in the state and listening on the backs of the people a vast bureaucracy of office holders. And everything in Sweden that is under the rule of private enterprise is really private enterprise. Sweden, I repeat, has been realistic, neither irresponsibly radical nor irresponsibly reactionary.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE QUESTIONING ADOLESCENTS

It is right that adolescent boys and girls question whatever is told them. I am not for having them take anybody's word for anything that they can find out for themselves. I'm for letting them search, investigate, follow every fact to its source and verify it on its own doorstep. I do not consider it disrespectful for a boy to question what I have told him is true. If he is interested enough to investigate and to test the validity of my statement I'm glad of it. By that sign I know that his brain is still a live and going concern, and something worthy may come from it, to the great advantage of himself and the nation.

There are some truths that are just as well accepted from the source, facts that have been proven by painful, even dangerous experience. When Jimmie danced up and down on the rotten plank that spanned the brook just to prove that his grandfather was wrong when he said it would break and let him down into the water, I did not grudge him the spank his grandfather gave him as a parting gesture after pulling him out. The plank spoke for itself.

Nor do I think it a studious gesture of Youth to go out and court infection or contagion after receiving a warning that it is abroad in the land. Some go this far in the wrong direction; and I am inclined to think that we are to blame for their lack of trust in our word. Their experiences with us have not made them trustful.

But these cases aside, there are worlds open to youth that have to be explored, tested, and tried personally before accepting. The realm of the mind cannot come under the control of its rightful possessor until he has explored it step by step, tested every idea, personally set the structures of thought that sustain it.

No second-hand experiences will do here. Is this good for me? Will this work for me? Is this true in the sight of my eyes? Why? So, poking, prodding, rejecting and accepting he builds a fresh conception of the world, his world, and lives by it.

"He who dares to teach must be willing to learn." Once a teacher—and parents are teachers—goes beyond the accepted rules and customs and enters debatable ground, one man's thought is as good as another's until proven to the contrary. A boy or a girl may be as right, as wise, and as earnest as his elder counselor and guide. Let him talk, let him question and come to some understanding within his own mind. Don't fall back upon authority, age, relationship of any sort, but stick to the point in question and see it through without anger, without personal feeling of any sort. This child is searching for truth, as along with him, and it may happen you will find a nugget for yourself.

No truth is ever hurt by free discussion. No real authority is ever undermined by questioning Youth. Authority comes by way of the spirit and stands up respected by all who have come within its influence. If you listen to youth's questioning patiently, you can set mistakes right. If you listen respectfully you will find new truth. If you go along in a spirit of understanding and faith, you will truly guide youth even while it cuts out a new path for itself. Principles are eternal. It is only manners and customs and mistaken ways that change with time, and they need changing to keep them in health. Let Youth question. Answer as best you can.
